

Teaser email 1

Subject line: A Special Note From Aadil

The First – And Only – Time I Will Do This

I've been training yoga teachers for over 30 years – in fact, I've been dubbed the "Teacher of Teachers!" But next year, I'm offering something I've never offered before.

It's a special and exclusive training, for people who truly want to take their yoga practice and teaching to the next level.

And I'm only accepting a few select people.

Why only a few? So we can get in-depth and hands-on. So I can give each student my personal attention.

To make sure that you get the most benefit possible from the training.

Click here to learn more.

<Graphic of Aadil's signature, first name only>

P.S. As a bonus, you'll receive two brand-new Special Reports absolutely free, whether you decide to join the training or not. It's my gift to you. Click here to find out more.

Teaser email 2

Subject line: An Exclusive Invitation...

Dear <first name>,

Next year, Aadil will take a small, select group of people, and offer them exclusive hands-on yoga training. This is a training he has not offered before, and may not offer again.

You are invited to join this select group.

If you're satisfied with a yoga practice that is the same every class... week in and week out... happy with one or two classes a week and nothing more...

... then this invitation is definitely not for you!

But if you want to move ahead in your yoga practice... yearn to take your yoga from "something you do" to an approach to life... love the idea of helping others and yourself at the same time...

... this special and exclusive training may be the best investment in yourself you ever make!

Click here to learn more.

P.S. As a bonus gift, you'll receive two brand-new Special Reports absolutely free, whether you decide to join the training or not. Click here to find out more.

Teaser email 3

Subject line: The Training Is Almost Full...

Dear <first name>,

You probably already know that in August I will offer a very special teacher training. One that I have not taught before... nor do I plan to offer it again.

In fact, many people have already signed up for this amazing opportunity. So many in fact, that only a small handful of seats are still available.

I feel humbled and grateful for that – and I look forward eagerly to the time we will spend together.

But if you haven't yet signed up, you may have any number of reasons why not. Perhaps it's the time commitment. Or the cost. Maybe you think it's too far to travel.

I have a challenge for you:

Are you willing to set aside the rationales and excuses, and join me to experience what could be the most impactful yoga training you ever receive?

I hope you will say "Yes."

A few people want to learn and grow... have the courage to step outside of what is comfortable and convenient... yearn to take the next step in their yoga practice.

Do you?

Those fortunate few will receive training and learn information that 95% of professional yoga teachers will simply never know.

Are you ready to accept the challenge?

Click here to learn more...

P.S. I also want to give you two brand-new Special Reports absolutely free, whether you decide to join the training or not. Click here to find out more.